

2006 Siduri Santa Lucia Highlands Pinot Noir

The Santa Lucia Highlands Appellation blend Pinot Noir has been one of our most popular wines ever since the 1999 vintage received a 91-point rating from Wine Spectator Magazine. The 2006 may be the fullest-bodied SLH blend since that 1999 offering. This is due, in part, to the super 2006 vintage and also because of the prominence of Pisoni Vineyard fruit in the blend. The 2006 wine is 47% Pisoni Vineyard, 38% Rosella's Vineyard and 15% Garys' Vineyard Pinot Noir.

Aged in 54% new oak for 10 months before bottling without fining or filtration, we are absolutely thrilled with how this wine is developing in bottle. PinotReport Magazine has already awarded the wine 92 Points and described it this way, "medium ruby color; deep, slightly closed, black cherry and smoky aromas; ripe, rich, smoky cherry flavors, complex, silky texture; toasty oak; good structure and balance; long finish. Complex and interesting style with good depth and structure."
